

Academic Placement

Does your University have a vacancy in its marketing faculty? Are you a marketing academician seeking employment or looking to change positions?

If so, then consider registering with the AMA's Academic Placement Service. Academic Placement is an online and in-person job search for the Marketing Academic Community. It is the only service of its kind where applicants and schools can post their own listing and search through hundreds of listings and interview in-person at the Summer Conference Placement Job Fair. For registration and more information please visit www.MarketPower.com/academicplacement.